Nina: we were only in 1 class together, but we were still friends.
You've changed this year - at last, we've corrupted you at last. Don't ever forget the camping trip on those nights in my leaky tent (thank God it didn't rain!) Love, Jeff

Dear Nina:
See ya next year -

Dear Nina,

Well here I go. This is really hard.
I don't really know what to say. This year has changed so much. It changed people and their attitudes. I know that if our class would stop changing and just remain the same, I could find a way to renew our relationship. However our class is forever changing, so maybe it will change and bring our paths together again. I know I would really like that.
You are a very talented, and gifted (same thing) person... someone really worthwhile to be good friends with. There is a lot more that I could say, but maybe we can talk later (my hand is feeling off) Have a good summer -

Love (always)

P.S. I wish you luck and love. I didn't mention things that I know are important because I wanted this to reveal how I feel towards you, not our conflict, which I hope will pass.
Love again
Rally

Nina,
You've really grown a lot this year, and I hope you keep searching for ways to make life "better" for yourself + for others.
Keep in touch over the next year(s), so that I can keep learning from you.
Take care,
T.C. USA

If you're wondering who the punk is smoking the fag or what the L stands for, we'll tell you. The L stands for Lucifer (just like him, isn't it?). The man in the picture is an enterprising young man, an up and coming director and producer, a friend to all and a star in his own right. Just call him Lu.

Twice every year at Friends Select a group of students coax and cajole Bill out from the deepest, darkest recesses of his closet lair in order to drive him crazy. The remarkable thing is that he asks for it. He even plans ahead for the occasion.

Bill is the producer of upwards of 15 Friends Select drama productions. The amount of energy and hard work he puts into these glorious productions is truly amazing. He selects the play, designs the set, and casts and directs the production. Of course, he doesn't do this all by himself; he uses his distinctive charm and outstandingly slick nature (see picture) to help students realize just how much they have always wanted to do set construction.

Outside of the theater, just across the hall, he teaches English regularly. Well, maybe not so regularly. Often in the middle of an explanation, without warning of any kind, he will halt in mid-sentence. He will tilt his head upwards, drape a hand over his mouth and ponder the universe, mumbling all the while.

What else has he done? You mean that isn't enough? Well, he has introduced some of us to the Wizard of Oz, others of us to F. Scott Fitzgerald and T. S. Eliot, and the rest of us to The Gong Show. He wears skinny ties and runs the best darkroom in town.

What else? Hmm, ahhh . . . let me see . . . ah . . . He is one of the most singularly friendly and misunderstood men we know. We thankfully salute the kind man, the consummate clown and eternal enigma by dedicating our yearbook to William L. Blauvelt.

In addition to being a virtuous teacher, he is an indispensable tool of the Quaker religion, a quiet radical, and a pillar of eternal advice. These are just some of the qualities that make him the unique individual that we look up to with respect. Interwoven with his distinguished character is a compassionate and benevolent man. Everyone holds the key to his heart and this is why we love him. For the gift of your precious guidance through these years, we thank thee Larry Scott Butler.

Have a pleasant summer
 Lois George

"Hurry up, the first bell rang!" echoes through the front lobby as a morning warning to stragglers. The alarm comes from an unsung heroine, a loyal confidante, a distributor of pencils and paper, and the latter half of the lost-and-found. During her eleven years at Friends Select, she has supplied us with an abundance of love and care. The Class of '77 offers our gratitude, respect and love to Lois George.

FACULTY

Dear Nilda, we have gone through a lot ^{together} this year - And I hope we have better experiences next year. Take care of all your sweet-hearts and I'll take care of mine - (if I ever get him!)

Have a nice summer. and take care! write and call O.K?

love always

Susie

P.S. I hope we are in more classes together next year so we will become better friends

To everything there is a season, and a time to every purpose under heaven; A time to be born and a time to die; a time to plant, and a time to pluck up that which is planted;
A time to kill, and a time to heal; a time to break down, and a time to build up; A time to weep, and a time to laugh; a time to mourn and a time to dance; A time to cast away stones, and a time to gather stones together; a time to embrace, and a time to refrain from embracing; A time to get, and a time to lose; a time to keep, and a time to cast away; A time to rend, and a time to sew; a time to keep silence, and a time to speak; A time to stand still, a time to go forth, and a time to live . . .

Breathe deep the gathering gloom Watch lights fade from every room Bedsitter people sit back and lament Another day's useless energy's spent.
Empassioned lovers wrestle as one Lonely man cries for love and has none
New mother suckles her new born son Old people wish they were young.
Cold cruel orb that rules the night
Remove the colours from our sight Black is grey and yellow white And we decide which is right And which is an illusion?

I am leaving soon, and you will forgive me if I speak bluntly. The universe grows smaller every day, and the threat of aggression by any group, anywhere, can no longer be tolerated. There must be security for all, or no one is secure. Now this does not mean giving up any freedom, except the freedom to act irresponsibly.

Clatu

One day many years ago a man walked along and stood in the sound of the ocean on a cold sunless shore and said, "We need a voice to call across the water, to warn ships; I'll make one. I'll make a voice that is like an empty bed beside you all night long, and like an empty house when you open the door, and like trees in autumn with no leaves. A sound like the birds flying south, crying, and a sound like November wind and the sea on the hard, cold shore. I'll make a sound that's so alone that no one can miss it, that whoever hears it will weep in their souls, and hearths will seem warmer, and being inside will seem better to all who hear it in the distant towns. I'll make me a sound and an apparatus and they'll call it a Fog Horn and whoever hears it will know the sadness of eternity and the briefness of life."

PAUL S. COSBY

We laughed, we played, we loved We exchanged words of bitterness Déjà Vu . . . We've been here before
We dreamed our dreams
And we made our plans
We saw them grow
And we saw them die
Déjà Vu . . . We've been here before
We spent wintry cold days by the fire And threw cold snow down each other's backs
Déjà Vu . . . We've been here before
Our tomorrows are now yesterdays
And the yesterdays are gone forever

Déjà Vu . . . We've been here before
Our passions, our desires have been built up And torn back down again
The elipses of the moon has casted down its' spell
Déjà Vu . . . We've been here before

I grasped a star and held it tightly You reached for the sky and took a ride . . .
Now the stars are gone
And the sky is stone
Déjà Vu . . . We've been here before.

Know ye what it is to be a child? It is to be something very different from the man of today. It is to have a spirit yet streaming from the waters of baptism; it is to believe in love; to believe in loveliness, to believe in belief; it is to be so little that the elves can reach to whisper in your ear; it is to turn pumpkins into coaches; and mice into horses, lowness into loftiness; and nothing into everything, for each child has its fairy godmother in its soul.

Look to this day
For it is life
The very life of life
In its brief course lie all The realities and truths of existence
The joy of growth
The splendor of action
The glory of power
For yesterday is but a memory
And tomorrow is only a vision
But today well lived Makes every yesterday a memory of happiness
And every tomorrow a vision of hope Look well, therefore, to this day!

As Solaam Alai Kum

If you are alive, you are going to do some wrong. The only thing that doesn't go wrong is a dead thing. You come alive to be put in wrong as a test.

Don't fall victim to wrong or adversities and give yourself over to weakness. If you do, you will have failed the test for which you were put in the wrong.

A fighter steps in the ring to fight, not sit down. Likewise, you come into life to fight. The harder you fight the better fighter you become. The more coward you are, the more you get whipped in the ring.

When you face weakness and opposition, don't go to them with weakness. Come out with courage and face them as a man or a woman. If you do this, you will become stronger and stronger.

—W. D. Muhammad

Tobie Liss

Your children are not your children.
They are the sons and daughters of Life's longing for itself.
They come through you but not from you,
And though they are with you yet they belong not to you.
You may give them your love but not your thoughts,
For they have their own thoughts.
You may house their bodies but not their souls, For their souls dwell in the house of tomorrow, which you cannot visit, not even in your dreams.
You may strive to be like them, but seek not to make them like you,
For life goes not backward nor tarries with yesterday.
You are the bows from which your children as living arrows are sent forth.
.....
Let your bending in the archer's hand be for gladness.

However, no sooner had I thought this than I realized I was using the word leader in two senses. From the hard-working young people at home, who were completing their education in traditional fashion, would come leaders like Aristotle, Pericles, Maimonides, Martin Luther, Thomas Jefferson and Winston Churchill, while from the Marrakech gang would rise meteoric figures like Saint Paul and Augustine, who had confessed to living in similar conditions, Byron and Dostoevsky, who had absorbed equivalent experiences, and Josef Stalin and Adolf Hitler, who had been nurtured on the same kind of confused political thinking. I suspected that for all centuries to come the world would continue to produce this same kind of dualism in leadership and that history would be the record of interaction between the two worlds of Michigan and Marrakech.

How doth you make yourself shine so bright?
That every ray of your golden light may Make more pleasant the world.
Arise! Gloomy world for the cloud of beauty Has come to warm up your chilled, numb and frostbitten bodies.
Rejoice! For dawn has broken.
But fast approaches the afternoon rays Bringing warmth while my shadow plays leapfrog.
But gradually the shadows stop their foolish play And chills go through my body as a sign the evening is approaching.
The sun's golden light rays seem to shrink
As the world becomes again gloomy.
For no more in sight is my cloud of beauty Lost 'til next morn.

HOW TIME FLIES

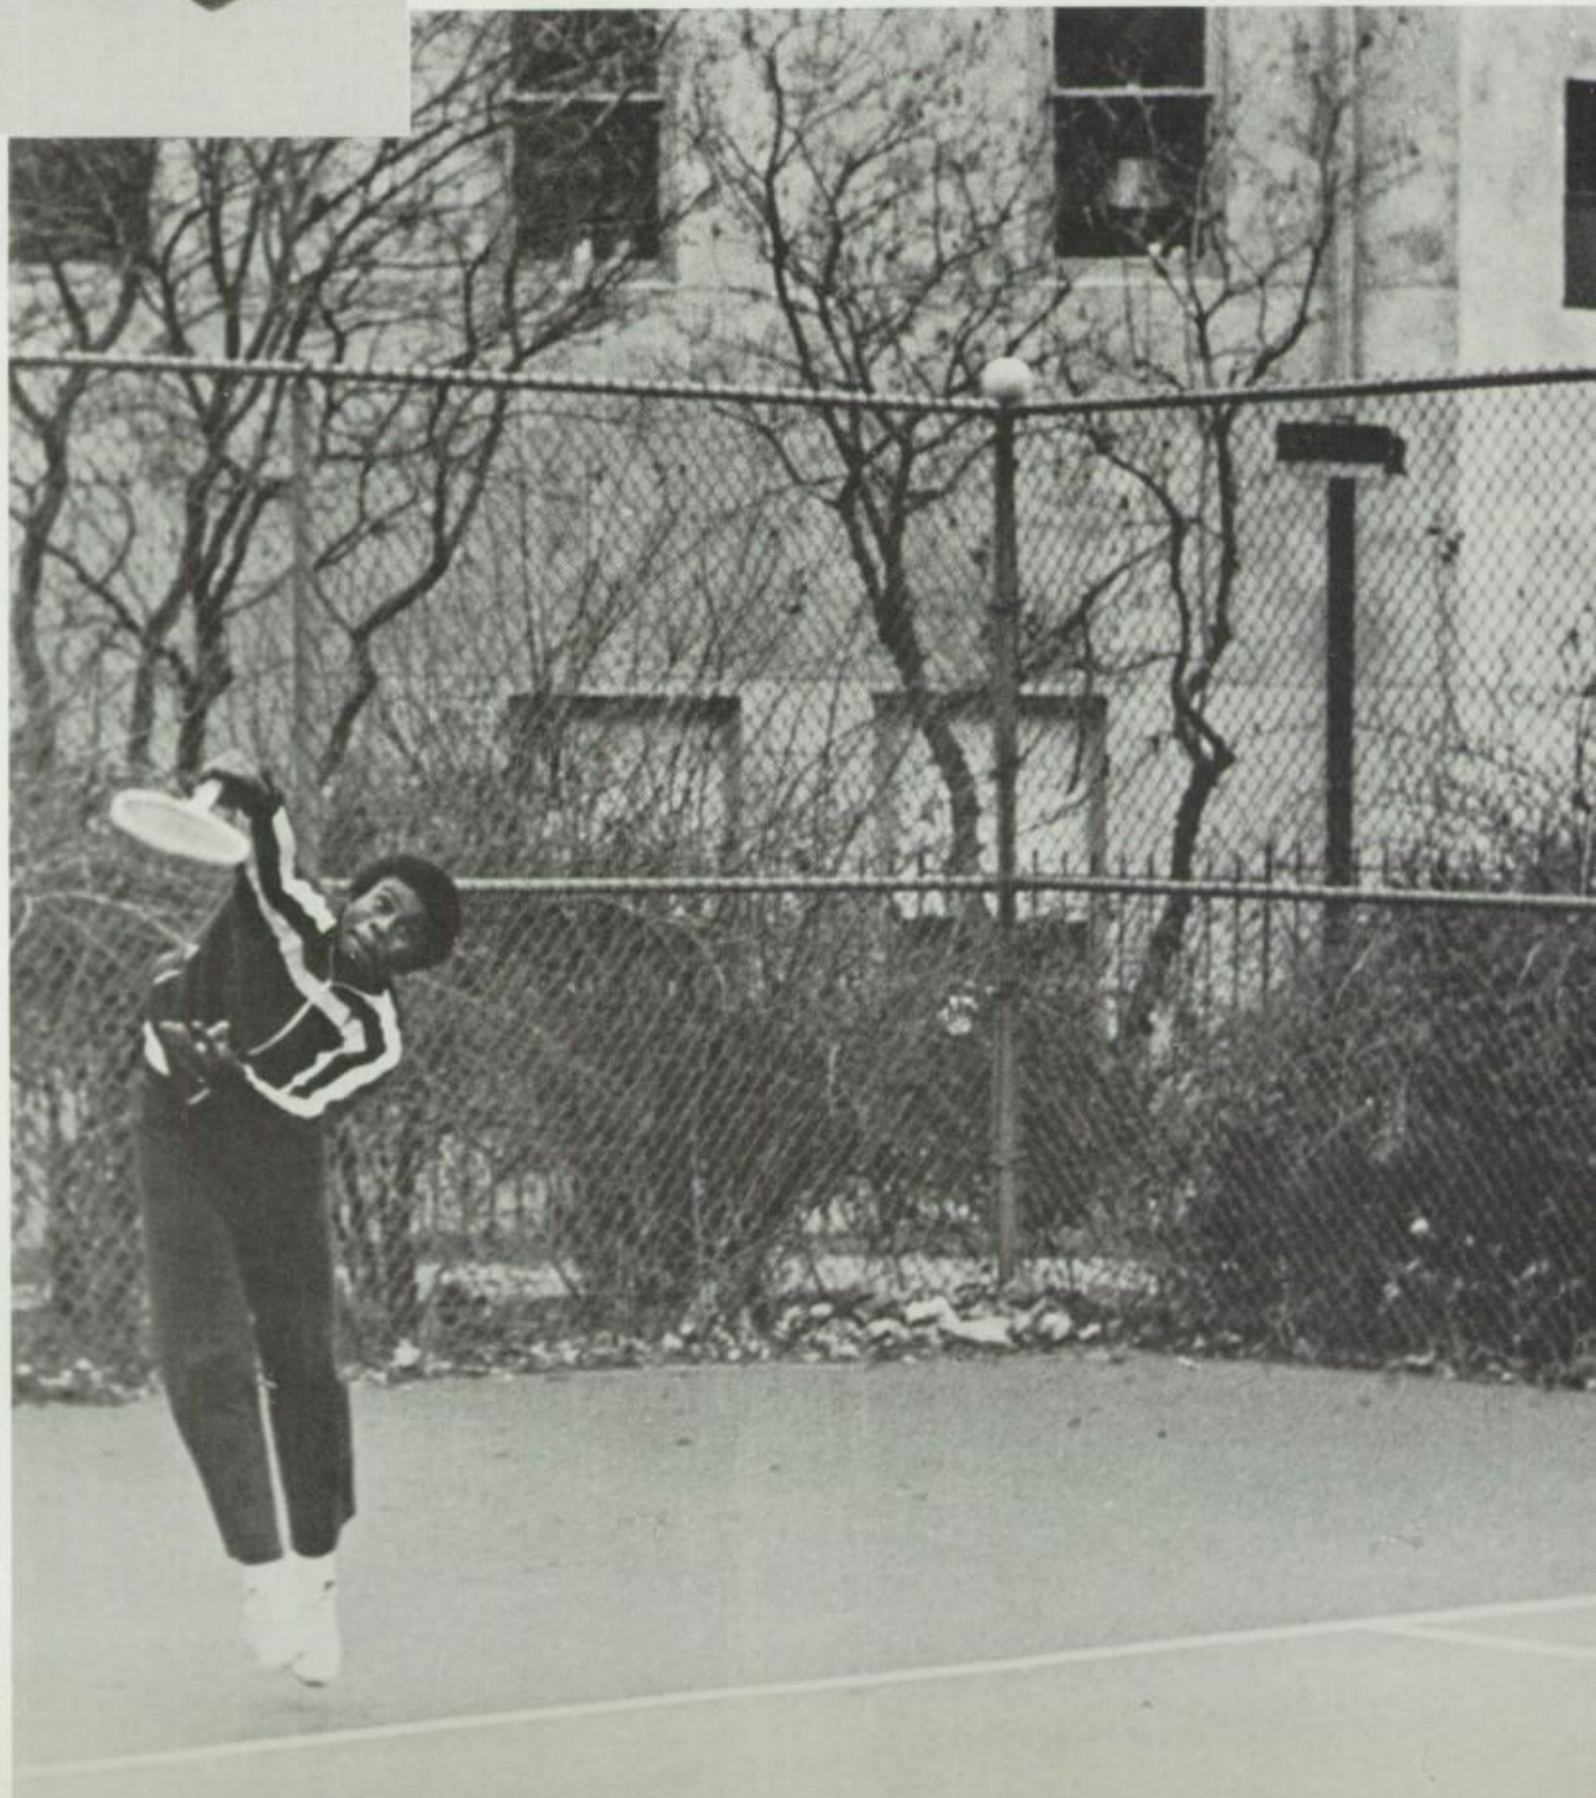

It seems like it was only yesterday...
 We were children going out to play
 But a lot of things have gone down since then Sometimes it feels good to remember when We didn't have a care in the world
 We didn't know about responsibility
 But now we've got a lot of things to do And there are so many places we've got to see Twenty-four hours make up a whole day Seems like they're running into one another Year after year they go so fast Where are we going?
 What are we after?
 How time flies
 Time is slipping away.

Everything has its season Everything has its time Show me a reason and I'll soon show you a rhyme Cats fit on the windowsill Children fit in the snow
Why do I feel I don't fit in anywhere I go?
Every man has his daydreams Every man has his goal People like the way dreams have of sticking to the soul Thunderclouds have their lightning Nightingales have their song Can't you see I want my life to be something more than long?
So many men seem destined To settle for something small But I won't rest until I know I'll have it all So don't ask me if I'm going But listen when I'm gone And far away you'll hear me singing
At the dawn
Eagles belong where they can ramble Eagles belong where they can fly I've got to be where my spirit can run free Got to find my corner of the sky.

Bodies braced against the truth inside, Minds likewise, ever vigilant, never resting, Life's energy is drained, Fleeing, fleeing, fleeing,
Trying to escape the past.

We fill the empty days, Hoping tomorrow will bring The love that never was.

Tomorrow turns today
And the show goes on (it never stops).

Dear Nina,
wow! this year was a really hard one for us.
I mean, we started out on pretty good terms and then something happened and I'm really not sure what it was. Nina, we've been so close to separate. It wouldn't work. I hope that in the future we never part because you see what happened this year. You went through what I went through last year and you know what, we both made it. this may sound mushy but it is true. I think we both learned a lot this year about our friendship and a lot of other things. I hope we have classes together next year, maybe then we'll know even more.

It's a shame that you couldn't find someone that you really liked this year but you can afford to be choosy you have a lot going for you and I wish I had some of it.

I'll never forget you and I hope you'll never forget me. Please keep in touch over the summer. I love you love forever.

Beth

LOVE, MOM AND DAD

Dear Nina,

I like this page - I acknowledge the smoothness of its existence. I'll really miss you. These past few months have been great, basically because of you. We almost understand each other. Next year our relationship will have memories which is part of a basis for good relationship. You mean a lot to me. You have all the characteristics of someone who I would want to be ~~my~~ very close to me and a few more. I can remember in the beginning of the year when we were just plain close, and whenever, really talked well look how far we've come. I will repeat to emphasize the importance of your friendships in my life. You've done well "sweet and low".

*As you are getting college greetings, Think of all those weekly Meetings, Clothed in silence and a sigh,
Under Larry's watchful eye, Janet's Hamlet and Macbeth, Gene whose puns could cause slow death, Bill B's hum, There's Mr. Russell, Danced with Dick the College Hustle;

Dear Nina —

It's really a shame that we didn't have any classes together. I really don't think that you are strange, REALLY. I only regard you as sometimes a little bit strange. I know we took a bit different routes this year but, I guess some people turn towards the top and some people turn towards the bottom. Well anyway have a good summer. Maybe I'll see you down at the shore.

Nina-

It is very true that, because of lack of communication, I thought you hated me for a long time. Fortunately that notion (I hope!) was dispelled at the ending of the year, and we have become somewhat friendly. Maybe next year a good relationship will result. Then again, maybe not! Love, Bill
